A young Masai Giraffe. This is the third Masai Giraffe print and the fourth of Giraffes generally. It was started some nine months before its release and completed after another project was delayed.

In its presentation it has similarities to “Masai Giraffe with Oxpecker” that was released in 1991. However, Gary did not want Gorgeous compared against that print and is very pleased that he has achieved a different look. The facial expression, and overall look, is unmistakably that of a youngster.

The image was drawn with the aid of various references, including some of Gary’s own photographs.

The title emerged from the reaction of a friend who simply commented “Oh, it’s gorgeous”. Other titles had previously been under consideration.
